This ridiculous. Another classic example of the big money corporate machine beating down the little guy. NAB is afraid of losing their big profits. They are afraid of competition, they should find ways to compete not choke a new way of thinking.

But as usual you political reps. and FCC will find a way to support the NAB just so you can keep your big payoffs and political contributions.

Another example of Big Corporate Business running the country with political puppets and the FCC in their pockets.

In case your interested Iam not in broadcasting or any related field, just a concerned citizen.
